Rise, Tarnished, and be guided by grace to forge your own path in the Lands Between. Slovenia could soon become the first country in the world to ban cow-dung stoves - PGurus ===== sosuke Edit: The cows are still alive and well, they just don't have to cough up dung. It's a revolution. And not the revolution where the animals don't die in the process but the revolution where the animals cough up the dung and their stinky breath gets used for cooking. Just something I'm guessing will happen. ~~~ vorg > And not the revolution where the animals don't die in the process but the > revolution where the animals cough up the dung and their stinky breath gets > used for cooking. Just something I'm guessing will happen. Not a pleasant thought: death is cheaper than health problems, as said in the article. ~~~ sosuke Death of the cow is not a problem, unless it's a disease that spreads. ~~~ scarmig Well, not necessarily cheap. The stink of cow dung combined with manure can make indoor air unbreathable in quantity. It's safe, but unpleasant. ----- prawn The other two are China and India. ~~~ akhilcacharya TIL China and India are the 3rd and 4th most populous countries in the world. ~~~ novalis Uh, yeah, those are the 3rd and 4th biggest agricultural producers in the world. They produce more than any other countries. The effect of in vitro exposure of a human cell line derived from bone marrow to leukaemic and non-leukaemic CFU-GM.
